

I favor the provisions of this rule making. A solid FCC mandated limit confining the wider modes to 1843 KHz and above would be good for orderly use of the 160 Meter amateur band. I normally operate on SSB in this band, but am interested in trying some of the new digital narrow modes.